Land purchase approved by FFA alumni

The membership of the Appomattox FFA Alumni Association have given approval and directed the chairman and secretary to sign the necessary papers to purchase a tract of land from Fred Jones, local businessman in Appomattox.

The land site, which contains 19.27 acres and adjoins the Appomattox County High School property, will be used as a land laboratory by the departments of vocational agriculture in the county.

In an up-date to the membership of the FFA Alumni at their annual dinner meeting held Tuesday, Nov. 1 at Appomattox County High School, R. B. Carter, chairman reported that $11,000 had been received toward the goal of $22,000. Fred Jones had agreed to finance the balance for one year at no interest. A goal of the land site committee is to make final payment by June 1, 1984. Efforts will be continued by the FFA Alumni Association to raise the additional amount.

Watt Abbitt, local attorney and retired Congressman, was recognized as the Outstanding FFA Alumni Member for 1983. Watt had been actively involved in raising funds for the land site, secured the chapter of incorporation for the Association, and performed the necessary legal papers for the purchase of the property.

W. T. Johnson, former Vo-Ag teacher and now Associate Director of Agricultural Education for the Department of Education, Richmond, was the speaker for the occasion, which was attended by 48 members, wives and guests. Tommy, as he is known, spoke about "What's Ahead for Vocational Agriculture and the FFA."

In other business conducted by the membership, a constitution change which makes the tenure of officers to be from July 1 of one year to July 1 of the next year was adopted. A long range planning committee to be chaired by Robert McCleney was appointed by the chairman. Other members of the long range planning committee were H. B. Pack, W. C. Dudley, Bobby Waddell, Barry Sauls, Richard Jones, Robert Coleman, Dennis Torrence, William Perrow and Hugh Tanner.

The meal was prepared and served by the Occupational Food classes at the Appomattox County High School under the leadership of Mrs. Tawanna Lee, instructor for the Foods Service Department. The main item of the meal of barbecued chicken was prepared by the Alumni members under the direction of Albert Carter. Billy Perrow headed a committee to make arrangements for the dinner.

The Appomattox FFA Alumni Association has a total membership of 55. Persons, FFA members and friends of the FFA are encouraged to join by paying membership dues of ten dollars to Marvin House, treasurer, Route 4, Box 47, Appomattox, Virginia 24522. Persons interested in making donations to the land laboratory are requested to mail contributions to Marvin House, also.

Lawson speaks to students

Fifth grade Think Tank students are conducting a unit on the Law and Court Systems.Attorney Tommy Lawson came and gave a talk about criminal and domestic law. He discussed his roles in defending people accused of crimes, and about how evidence was gathered and used in court cases. He gave a very interesting talk.

Polygraph tests are not admissable in court unless the person being prosecuted agrees to it before hand. The students showed an interest in seeing a polygraph test demonstrated. Mr. Herbert Chamblee, a special agent with the State Police, came to school and talked about the polygraph and forensic science (gathering criminal evidence). Later the students were able to go to the station and observe the polygraph first hand. It wasn't anything like some of them had imagined.

At annual conference

Times-Virginian employees cited

Employees of the Times-Virginian were among the 110 persons attending the annual conference of Atlantic Publications at the Cavalier on the Hill in Virginia Beach on Oct. 20. Atlantic, the parent company of the Times-Virginian, operates 16 newspapers in the three-state area of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

One of the more exciting events of the day was the presentation of awards to company employees for work done during the fiscal year 1982-83. Presentations were given to newspapers for special efforts and individuals for outstanding work.

Times-Virginian ad manager Allen Austin won a first-place award in the non-color ad category for his ad for Lawson Ford, which appeared in the newspaper's dairy-farming special section in June. Austin also won second place in the same category for the Wilbun's Supermarket ad which appeared in the 1982 Christmas recipe special section published by the Times-Virginian.

Editor Bill Sherrod won a second-place award in the newswriting category, for the story on a black bear which wandered through the Triangle Plaza Shopping Center this year. He also won a second-place award in the news photography category for a photo taken at the scene of a fire caused by a powerline which fell near Pamplin.

The paper also won awards for meeting its sales goals in the classified advertising category, and in the local display advertising category.

Highlighting the one-day event were sessions built around news, advertising, circulation, bookkeeping, libel, and motivation topics. Staff members heard from a number of speakers throughout the day with Atlantic President George N. McMath addressing the gathering during the luncheon session. He offered congratulations on the success of the business year which just ended and spoke on goals for the new year. He said that while the goals for 1983-84 are imaginative and far-reaching, "they also are attainable. Indeed all things are possible, and I am convinced that our only limitations are those that are self-imposed.

Members of the Times-Virginian staff heard the keynote address given by Charles A. Lyons, President of Chesapeake Publishing Corporation. In addition Conrad M. Shumadine, in attorney with the Norfolk law firm of Willcox, Savage, Dickson, Hollis and Eley, spoke on libel and Dan Reilly, Sales Representative for Compugraphic, talked on the production personnel on the topic of "Knowing Your Equipment."

Bob Ramsey, Executive Vice-President of the Virginia Hotel & Motel Association, delivered the luncheon address, "In Search of Excellence."

Jack Davis, Publisher of The Eastern Shore News, did a critique on the news and phot entries, while Stuart B. Miller, Jr., Marketing and Research Manager, Newport News Daily Press/Times Herald, critiqued advertising entries. Gene Williams, Editor of the Eastern Shor Times, did a critique on classified advertising.

During the day employees also heard from W.A. Claxton, Publisher of the Rappahannock Times, on "Quality Press Production" and L. Wesley Joynes, Group Representative, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Virginia. A film, "Winner's Attitudes" by Zig Ziglar was shown.

State PUVA Teacher's Award

Thomas honored

Gary Thomas

Gary Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Thomas, of Appomattox, has won the state PUVA Teachers Award.

The Public Utilities Association of Virginia sponsors the award for Vocational Agriculture Teachers who instruct students in Farm Electrification. Over the past eight years instruction in electricity has been a regular part of his instructional program.

The award includes a certificate plus an expense-paid trip to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. The week Mr. Thomas will travel to the National Convention with the FFA members representing the Virginia delegation.

While in Kansas City, Gary will also serve as chairman of the state FFA Alumni delegation who will vote to keep dues from increasing. A holder of the American Farmer degree, and past state FFA officer he has always promoted the FFA. Recently, he was instrumental in organizing trhe first Alumni Association at Randolph Henry High School.

Since 1975 when he graduated from Virgini Tech, he has taught Vocational Agriculture at Jefferson Forest High School for three years and Randolph Henry for five years. At present Mr. Thomas has returned to Jefferson Forest High School, where he plans to settle down for a long period of teaching Vcational Agriculture.

The electric companies of Virginia promote the FFA and Vocational Agriculture in their effort in instructing students about electricity. Mr. Thomas expresses his thanks to Vepco, Central Virginia and Southside Electric Cooperaties for the support of Vocational Agriculture.

'Friends of park' group forms

Mr. Beau Whitaker of Lynchburg and Mr. Munsey Moore of Chase City have agreed to serve on an organizing committee representing Appomattox Court House National Historical Park for the development of a Friends organization for the Virginia Civil War parks.

The first meeting of the "Friends of Virginia Civil War Parks" was held in Richmond Oct. 15 at Fort Harrison. Over thirty interested citizens were in attendance and while most came from Virginia, one came from Pittsburgh, Pa. These individuals stated a sincere desired to form a group which would assist the five National Parks Service Civil War parks in Virginia--Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military Park. Manassas National Battlefield Park, Petersburg National Battlefield, and Richmond National Battlefield Park--in protecting and interpreting this historical resources in each of these areas for the benefit of this and succeeding generations, and to promote the historical, scientific, educational, and interpretive activities of the Civil War parks.

Friends groups have proven to be extremely beneficial to the National Park Service's resources by undertaking projects that would not be possible without the assistance of outside help and expertise.

The concensus of the meeting was that there is a definite need for such a group and that one should be established as soon as possible. A second meeting is planned for Nov. 12 in Richmond to select acting officers, develop a set of draft by-laws and generally get organized.

Anyone interested in serving on the organizing committee or wanting to become involved with the Friends organization should contact Jon Montgomery, Superintendent, Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, P.O. Box 218, Appomattox, Va. 24522, telephone (804) 352-8987.

Forest to perform in opera

Tenor Michael Forest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie E. Forest, Sr., of Red House, will sing the role of Basilio in Mozart's comic opera "The Marriage of Figaro," at Shenandoah College and Conservatory of Music in Winchester, Va.

Forest is a junior majoring in voice.

AMS students learn of theft

Students at Appomattox Middle School are studying the circumstances, problems and laws related to teen-age theft.

Mr. Roland Murphy, director of court services, explained how the Juvenile Court System works. He explained what happens after a juvenile is arrested and how a juvenile court case is handled differently from an adult court case. One of the most prevalent juvenile crimes is theft.

The special-interest students will have a simulated theft and have a court hearing. The students will role-play various persons associated with a juvenile court hearing such as the accused, the accuser lawyers, parents, probation officers, baliff, judge.

Through the simulation the students will study the extent of shoplifting and school theft in America, the reasons persons steal, the cost of shoplifting to business and consumers, the cost of theft for schools, the laws dealing with theft, the juvenile court system's purpose and procedures, and alternative ways to attack the problem of teenage theft.
